GCSE Group Classes Parent Guide

Our GCSE groups provide live online subject teaching, guided practice and exam preparation. This guide explains places, teaching, payments and communication. Read it alongside the Parent Policies before completing the Academic Tuition Form and Policy Acknowledgement Form.

Sessions and fees

- £10 per student per one hour session. Groups are for GCSE tuition; A Level groups are a future ambition.
- Standard groups contain two to five students. A minimum of two students is normally needed to start an additional group.
- The subject, exam board, tier and relevant support needs are checked before a place is confirmed.

WE DO NOT OFFER FREE TRIALS. All tuition and assessments must be paid before the booked lesson or agreed monthly payment period begins.

Joining and payment

Complete the Academic Tuition Form and select group sessions, read the Parent Policies and complete the Policy Acknowledgement Form. Management confirms availability, teaching arrangements and payment details. Payment must be received before teaching. Contact Asad Patel or Aman if a payment or joining arrangement needs checking.

When a group is full

Management may offer a waiting list or discuss an exceptional temporary sixth place, explained and agreed in advance. As demand grows, the normal plan is an additional tutor running a parallel group at the same time. New sessions or timings may be announced separately.

Examples of joining arrangements

- Maths Higher on Monday at 6 pm is full. A tutor continues with the existing group while management discusses a waiting list or a temporary sixth place. When at least two learners are ready for a new group, an additional tutor may run it at the same time.
- Maths Foundation on Monday at 7 pm has a suitable place. Management checks the learner's tier, exam board and support needs before confirming enrolment.
- English Language and Literature are separate sessions. Register interest in each required session; attending one does not automatically book another.
- Biology, Physics and Chemistry teach both Combined and separate science routes. The tutor sets appropriate Foundation or Higher tasks and route specific work.
- If the subject, timing or group approach is unsuitable, management can discuss a waiting list, future options or separately priced one to one tuition.

Learning plans and weekly updates

Tutors use the subject learning plans as coverage frameworks, adapting order, practice and pace to the group's exam boards and learning needs. A plan does not guarantee a grade or fixed completion date. Asad or Aman sends a weekly parent update covering work, practice and next steps. Learner specific concerns and attendance details are communicated privately.

Helping lessons run well

Join on time with the agreed resources and a suitable device. Keep links private, follow microphone and chat instructions, and let others contribute. Complete manageable practice and tell the tutor if work is unclear. Share relevant exam board information and school feedback through the approved private route.

Concerns support and contact

A learning plan, adjustments or a meeting can be arranged where needed. Tutors do not diagnose SEND. Use the established safeguarding process for concerns and contact Asad directly for complaints. For payment and entry questions, contact Asad or Aman rather than relying on a group message.
